Motley Mid

Our revamped sustainable Low Velocity clothing program has inspired us to continue to bring more sustainably sourced materials to our footwear line, while still ensuring that durability and skate function are driving our design process. We're far from perfect, but trying to move forward one step at a time. Some of the sustainable materials include:

WOLVERINE LEATHERS®

We continue our relationship with Wolverine leathers, using their most durable pig nubuck. Pigs are much more environmentally friendly than cows, using less natural resources to raise, and producing less methane gas.

BLOOM™ TREK RUBBER

Globe is the first skateboard shoe company to use Bloom™ new Trek Rubber. Bloom™ cleans up algae from waterways, and converts it into a material that can be added to the rubber in our outsoles. It's rubber made with algae – and has been tested by our skaters for durability.

WASTE2WEAR® RECYCLED PLASTIC

This season sees the continuation of our partnership with Waste2Wear, a producer of fabrics made from recycled plastic bottles. They use a transparent and traceable process which uses up to 70% less energy, emits 75% less CO2, and uses 86% less water than using virgin polyester.

VEGAN FOOTWEAR

We continue to expand our offering of vegan friendly footwear which uses processes and materials that are free of animal products and animal testing. Our focus is on using high quality synthetic substitutes that perform and stand up over time.

ORGANIC COTTON

Cotton grown with organic agriculture methods uses fewer pesticides than conventional cotton, and therefore reduces exposure to toxic chemicals that can end up in the ground, air, water and our food chain.

UPCYCLED RUBBER

We take what would normally be throw away scraps from the factory floor and recycle them into usable outsoles. This process prevents rubber from ending up in our landfills and is better for our environment.

The Concrete Collection

Visually inspired by the literal streets we skate, these shoes feature digitally printed suede, rubber overlays in high abrasion zones for added durability, and Bloom algae rubber in the outsoles as a sustainable alternative to petroleum based rubber.

The Mosaic Collection

This season we give three of our heritage classics a vegan makeover, featuring recycled polyester and mosaic colored rubber outsoles. Each colorway has an upper featuring synthetic leather & Waste2Wear™ recycled nylon, as well as RPET material for the shoelaces and lining making them more environmentally friendly.

National Forest Foundation

Through our partnership with the National Forest Foundation (NFF) and our ReGrowth program we plant at least 3x the amount of trees we harvest annually in the making of our skateboards. We continue to grow our donations and fuel our effort in footwear – we will plant one tree for every pair of Dimension's sold.

Over a few evening drinks with our friends at Globe in London or Paris, but it could have been Barcelona. It was discussed how we yearned for a shoe that could be worn effortlessly from the early morning surf checks all the way through to when the sun dips and the evening lights begin to twinkle as we dance to the beat of the metropolitan drum. Enter the conception of a collab –born from a marriage led by minimalism." We have now collaborated again yet this time we turn to our friends down under for inspiration. We wanted a hard wearing leather that would vintage over time yet still hold up to our harsh sea bearing climates. Welcome the new Dark Brown / Wasted Talent Dover II- in all crazy horse leather, born from the outback of Australia, designed for the lives we live.
